MISSOULA--

Several University of Montana football players will be honored at halftime of the UM-Boise State basketball game Saturday, January 20, in the Harry Adams Field House, when they formally receive awards they won this past grid season.

The team awards were: the Terry Dillon Award, for the Outstanding Offensive Back--Rocky Klever; the Paul Weskamp Award for the Outstanding Offensive Lineman--Guy Bingham; the Larry Miller Award which is given to the Outstanding Defensive Lineman--Steve Fisher; the Golden Helmet Award, given to the Hardest Hitter of the team--Kent Clausen; and the Steve Carlson Award, which is presented to the Most Valuable Player--Tim Kerr.

All-conference Players will also receive recognition.

First team: Guy Bingham, offensive line; Greg Dunn, defensive back; Allen Green, tight end; and Steve Fisher and Sam Martin, defensive line.

Second team Grizzlies included: Monty Bullerdick, running back; Kent Clausen, linebacker; Scott Ferda, defensive back and Vern Kelly, wide receiver. Honorable mention pick was Raul Allegre, kicker.

Rocky Klever, twice Big Sky Offensive Player of the Week (against Boise State and Montana State), will also be honored, and receive his certificates.

Three UM seniors have etched their names into the record book.

Bullerdick became UM's No. 2 career rusher with 1,813 yards; had most rushes in a single game (36); most carries in a season (219) and most career rush attempts (433).

Kelly set a career standard for receptions with 83; most receptions in a season (42); most TD passes in a season (6) and became the Grizzlies No. 2 all-time receiver with 1,103 yards.

Kerr, a local product, set single game marks for completions (19) and passing yardage (291) in the 1977 game versus the Bobcats. He became UM's No. 3 all-time passer with 1,745 yards and had the second best season in the school's history in 1977, passing for 1,097 yards.
